

£11,000 CHURCH CHAPEL

The TIMES April 8th, 59.

A new £11,000 Chapel is being erected in Bryant Street, Rockdale, for the Church of Christ.

The Architect, Mr. Keith Sawdy, has designed an attractive building to seat 200 people.

Many modern ideas are incorporated — from the parquetry floor on a concrete slab, to the aluminium roof supported by straight steel joists which rise from exterior concrete pads.

Featured, too, are a floodlit cross, and inside, an open baptistry and a garden beside the pulpit.

The cost, £11,000, is largely being met from the proceeds of the stall conducted by the Copley family.

For the third successive year £1000 has been raised by the voluntary workers.

The patronage of all who purchase from the stall is warmly appreciated.

The chapel is expected to be opened in June.
